

Bachelor of Physical Therapy Program
Department of Physical Therapy
College of Applied Medical Sciences

Physical Therapy Program Graduate Attributes (PGA)

No	Code	Wording
1	PGA1	Acquire a comprehensive, coherent, and organized body of knowledge in different basic sciences that can be applied to physical therapy specialty.
2	PGA2	Apply clinical reasoning, problem solving, innovative thinking, and scientific research skills for finding appropriate realistic achievable therapeutic goals, guidelines & therapeutic solutions for different health problems
3	PGA3	Use appropriate assessment and therapeutic methods and advanced technology in the analysis and resolution of complex health-related problems.
4	PGA4	Demonstrate full responsibility, justice, and autonomy in providing physical therapy services and care for people with disabilities and their families.
5	PGA5	Demonstrate the ability to use integrated knowledge and sound clinical skills for providing high quality and effective physical therapy services.
6	PGA6	Critically analyze, appraise and interpret researches in the field of physical therapy and rehabilitation to develop up to date knowledge and clinical skills.
7	PGA7	Communicate effectively, both in spoken and written language, with other colleagues, patients and health professionals in the multidisciplinary health care teams.
8	PGA8	Commit to Islamic values & believes and preserve the Islamic identity.
9	PGA9	Operate as a constructive member in multi- disciplinary team for promoting and delivering high quality, effective, & client-centered physical therapy care and services.
10	PGA10	Display social responsibility through participation in community activities aiming for solving national health problems